Lisgar

History

The Lisgar Residential District was originally in the former Town of Oakville. With the advent of Regional Government in 1974, the City of Mississauga was established and Lisgar was incorporated through the extension of its westerly boundary to Ninth Line.

The Official (Primary) Plan of 1981 identified the major land use for this District as residential. The land use plan for Lisgar, consisting of various types of residential development, was approved in 1984.

The first major development in Lisgar was the introduction of a modular development concept, for detached dwellings, by First City Developments, in the area around Trelawny Circle and Tenth Line West, and the first subdivision was registered in December 1984. This unique housing module consists of six detached dwellings, on oblique angled lots, fronting on a 10m (32.8 ft.) cul-de-sac off a conventional road.

Today, Lisgar is one of the few residential districts in Mississauga with development still ongoing.
